Time to Mark Your Calendars and Plan to Attend!

The California Commercial Real Estate Summit (CCRES) will be held in Sacramento on June 12 and 13, 2012. This event is the one time of year that industry leaders from all sectors of the commercial, industrial, and retail real estate industry converge on California's Capitol to meet with policymakers. The summit gives you an opportunity to meet other industry leaders from across the nation, high-level staff from Governor Brown's Administration, and California State Legislators. In recognition of the economy, CBPA has not raised registration fees in 4 years!

The Commercial Real Estate Summit is organized by California Business Properties Association (CBPA), which is the recognized voice of all aspects of the commercial retail industrial real estate industry in California and is the designated legislative advocate for: Building Owners and Managers Association of California (BOMA California), International Council of Shopping Centers (ICSC), NAIOP of California, the Commercial Real Estate Development Association (NAIOP), Retail Industry Leaders Association (RILA), Institute of Real Estate Management (IREM), California Downtown Association (CDA), and the Association of Commercial Real Estate – Southern California (ACRE).
